XIII. PRESENTATION

- ### a. Redlands Coordinated Supports and Services Update – Rachel Malatesta, Director, Behavioral and Mental Health Services.

Mrs. Malatesta provided an update on the work being done district-wide by school counselors, student leadership champions, and the RCSS team. The RCSS Team recognizes the vital role that school counselors play in supporting the development of all students. The partnership with Hatching Results has been instrumental in aligning the work of school counselors to the MTSS model across the District as outlined in the LCAP. Over the past year, the RUSD Counseling Program has made a great deal of progress toward developing and implementing strong franchised tiered support plans and focusing on school-wide attendance supports.

The ACC Program operates within the comprehensive school counseling program. The ACCs, along with the elementary counselors, serve foster and homeless youth. Further noting that RUSD is home to two short term residential placement facilities and one transitional shelter.

All of the work revolves around a Multi-Tiered System of Support. The RCSS office supports this work in Social Emotional Learning, Mental Health, PBIS or behavior supports, and Restorative Practices (RP). All four frameworks come together to create a truly comprehensive supports system to boost student success.

The state and federal government recognizes the important role that school districts provided in getting students access to mental health services, and is pushing out an expansion of Medi-Cal billing opportunities for districts. Redlands was recently selected as 1 of only 47 districts to participate in Cohort 1 of this roll out, which is very exciting, especially in light of current budget implications.

- b. Medley Station and the CNS Services Brand Strategy – Alyssa Cummings, Child Nutrition Services Director

Mrs. Cummings and team presented the Child Nutrition Services (CNS) Brand Strategy noting that the project started in October 2022 with the objective to establish a new brand name and positioning that serves as the catalyst for communication and engages students, parent/guardians and staff members.

The Brand Promise ensures that every student that walks through CNS's doors will have access to nutritious meals and a space that fuels their academic progress and physical and emotional well-being.

CNS staff shared the vision moving forward including an investment in new production equipment for the Medley Station.

- c. CRY-ROP Public Service Presentation – Scott Raine, Program Manager, ROP; Robert Harshberger, Emergency Response Teacher, Citrus Valley High School; Marc Beitler, Criminal Justice Teacher, Citrus Valley High School.

Mr. Raine shared that part of CRY-ROP's focus this year is to share the CRY-ROP story. Mr. Raine introduced Mr. Harshberger and students to provide details on the CRY-ROP Criminal Justice and Emergency Responder classes at Citrus Valley. Both courses are articulated which means that students that take the class get college credits.

In the Criminal Justice course, students learn about evidence collection, mark identifying, planting tracking devices and working on crime scenes.

In the Emergency Medical Responder course, students learn how to take care of patients in an emergency room setting and in an ambulance simulator. Students are tested at the EMT level to make the transition at Crafton Hills College easier.
